FRANKFORT, KY., MAY 15, 1880.

NUMBER 34

A letter from Jacksonville reaches us too late for insertion in this issue.

The Benson pontoon bridge will have a charter by June 7th, at which time it will be open to the public.

Nothing makes a lady look nicer than a nice hat. The new style turbans diminish the beauty of our ladies fifty per cent.

Hon. J. D. Lillard, of Owen county, proposes to contest the nomination of Hon. J. C. S. Blackburn for Congress from this district.

The Committee on Catalogue of the Kentucky Industrial Association will meet next Tuesday, at ten o'clock. George T. Graddy is chairman.

George Wolfe's jewelry establishment, at the corner of Jefferson street and Fourth avenue, Louisville, is the headquarters for Frankfort people in the Falls City.

Mr. H. L. Watkins has sold for Dr. H. A. M. Henderson his residence on the corner of Todd and Shelby streets, South Frankfort, to Mr. C. E. McAll, of Washington, D. C. The price paid was $6,000.

There will be a meeting of Kentucky Lodge, No. 37, Knights of Pythias, at their castle hall, Monday evening next, at 8 o'clock, for work in the Page degree. A full attendance of the members is requested.

Mr. Chas. S. Cline, of Louisville, is a most agreeable young man socially, and prompt and reliable in his business engagements. We commend him to the people of Frankfort who want doors, sash, blinds, and other building material.

Messrs. John Cochran & Co. are raising the warehouse on their Spring Hill distillery property, near this city, two stories higher, and when completed it will have storage room for 7,000 barrels. Messrs. John Gault & Co. have the contract, and commenced the work Tuesday morning.

We take especial pleasure in calling attention to the advertisement of Mr. Frank Wybrant, which may be found in another column of this paper. Mr. Wybrant is one of the most accomplished artists of Louisville, and is a thorough gentleman. Go to see him when you visit Louisville.

We have received the first number of a very handsome monthly paper, entitled Mirror of Fashion and Society, published by the dry goods firm of Sharpe & Middleton, Louisville. It is very handsomely printed, illustrated with fashion plates, and is devoted to fashion, society, literature, and art. Its contents are exceedingly interesting, being made up of stories, choice selections, editorials and miscellany. The subscription price is $1 00 a year, but any one sending 50 cents during the next 30 days will receive the paper for one year. An agent is wanted in every town and county, and as it is a ladies' paper, ladies are preferred as agents.

It is the general impression that our fair would be a grand financial success if the price of admission was reduced to twenty-five cents. Suppose the Directory try it.

Dr. E. E. Hume, former Representative of Anderson county in the Legislature, has removed to this city, with a view to locating. He is at present in charge of the hospital of the penitentiary, as prison physician, to fill the gap occasioned by the resignation of Dr. W. B. Rodman prior to the time of Dr. Goebel, the physician elected, entering upon the duties of that office. Dr. Hume is a good physician and we hope he may not be long without patients.

About the handsomest piece of work we have ever seen is a bed spread crocheted by Mrs. Margaret Ayres. It is composed of twenty-five squares, each square being the representation of a bird, animal, or some landscape scene. Each object stands out in bold relief, being much better executed than if done with pencil or brush by any but a master hand. It has been the work of leisure hours for several years past, but is now completed with the exception of the border. If it should be placed on exhibition at our fair next fall it would not fail to take a ribbon.

The readers of the Good Templars' Advocate must have noticed a very marked improvement recently in the editorials and typographical work of that paper. It is now edited by Capt. R. S. Cheves, formerly of the Mt. Sterling Democrat, who has both the inclination and ability to make the Advocate second to no paper of its kind in America. His editorials are written in an easy, graceful style, and are right to the point. The Advocate is the property of the Good Templars of Kentucky, and should receive the support of every member of the Order in the State. If you are not a subscriber for it, send for a specimen copy and see it.

During the recent session of the Legislature an act was passed empowering the school trustees of this city to organize a graded school for the education of colored children, and under authority of that act Mat. C. Johnson, John Thomas, R. H. Higdon, Anthony Williams, and Lewis Harris have been appointed trustees for said school. These are good selections, as they are men of intelligence, have the good of their people at heart, and will spare no pains to make the school a success. There is already in the treasury a sum sufficient to pay the expenses of the school for one year, and it will be opened in September with a full corps of teachers. The most important thing to be accomplished is the erection of a school building, and when that is done the school is on a firm foundation. We hope that it will not be many years before Frankfort will have as handsome a colored school building as either Lexington or Louisville.

Whisky as a Demoralizer.

However wrong Col. Bob Ingersoll may be upon some other subjects, he is sound to the heart's core on the subject of temperance. He has this to say about the demoralizing influence of alcohol upon all those who come in contact with the accursed stuff.

"I believe that alcohol demoralizes those who make it, those who sell it, and those who drink it. I believe that from the time it issues from the coiled and poisoned worm of the distillery until it empties into the hell of crime, death and dishonor, it demoralizes everybody who touches it. I do not believe that anybody can contemplate this subject without becoming prejudiced against that liquid crime. All you have to do is to think of the weeks upon either bank of the stream of death—of the suicides, of the insanity, of the poverty, of the ignorance, of the distress, of the little children tugging at the faded dresses of weeping and despairing wives, asking for bread; of the men of genius it has wrecked, of the millions who have struggled with imaginary serpents produced with this devilish thing and when you think of the jails, of the almshouses, of the prisons, and of the scaffolds upon either bank—I do not wonder that every thoughtful man is prejudiced against the damned stuff called alcohol."

Belle Point.

Twenty car loads of Lumber were shipped from the Champion saw-mill this week.

Messrs. Brawner & McDaniel are preparing to make brick on their yard, near Lake Park.

Mr. David Todd has accepted a position in the Champion saw-mill, and will not go to Shelby to live.

The most of our citizens have been attending the meeting at the Christian Church, in Frankfort, this week.

Our young men organized a debating society Tuesday night, which will meet regularly every week hereafter.

Our gas-works are terribly out of repair. Can't our city dads do something for the lamp in front of the Trade Palace.

Miss Emma Ziegler, who has been attending school in York, Pa., the past year, returned home yesterday afternoon. Her father met her in Cincinnati.

It is proposed to organize a Union Sunday school at the Chapel Sunday morning at 9 o'clock. There should be a full attendance of our citizens, young and old.

Mr. Jos. B. Lewis and family have removed from our village to Frankfort, and are occupying Mrs. LeCompte's house. We are sorry to lose so good a citizen as Mr. Lewis has been.

Judge Pence tried his new pontoon bridge Wednesday afternoon, in his buggy, for the first time. He got over safe, but must have gotten lost on the other side, for he failed to put in an appearance until a late hour that night.

In the cure of consumption there is probably no known medicine equal to the Syrup of Hypophosphites prepared by Mr. James I. Fellows, chemist, St. John, N. B. A number of cases have come under our notice the past ten years when the results which have followed its use have been astonishing. We write this unsolicited by any one, and advise the afflicted to try it.

EDITOR "COLONIAL FARMER."

Dr. T. T. BRADFORD'S Cure for Rheumatism, Gout, and Neuralgia. This is not a nostrum, but a preparation compounded by an experienced physician with a view to the cure of the above complaints. To any who are suffering we offer this remedy as a sure cure, and can furnish the most reliable testimonials from persons who have used it and been relieved. Price fifty cents per bottle. Further information given by the sole proprietor, Dr. T. T. Bradford, Augusta, Ky. For sale by W. H. Averill, Frankfort, Ky. John D. Park & Sons, wholesale agents, Cincinnati, O. feb21-6m.

PLANTS FOR SALE.

The weather has been warm and dry for the past three weeks, and rain is badly needed by the farmers.

A few copies of the History of the First Kentucky Brigade for sale cheap at Marshall & Meagher's.

A runaway on Main street Tuesday evening caused considerable excitement, but no damage was done.

There is more room in South Frankfort than in the North Side, and that is the place for the new court-house.

P. Bag and family, of Colorado, accompanied by "his sisters, his cousins and his aunts," have arrived in this city.

The Good Templars of Franklin county will convene in this city next Thursday for the purpose of organizing a county convention.

Several young gentlemen of this city have expressed their willingness to ride in a bicycle race at our coming fair, if such a race will be put on the programme.

Elder Geo. Darie has been conducting a protracted meeting at the Christian Church in this city the past week, and considerable interest is manifested. Thus far there have been several additions. There will be no services to-night, but the meeting will be continued next week. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

The E. H. Taylor, jr., Company have changed the name of their Arlington Distillery to that of Carlisle, in honor of Hon. John G. Carlisle.

The General Association of the Baptist Church in this State will meet in Owensboro next Wednesday. A number of delegates from this city and county will attend.

There will be a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Industrial Association at the court-house next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the transaction of important business.

It has been decided to erect an iron bridge over the mouth of Benson, to connect this city and Belle Point, and it is to be hoped that it will be raised above the level of the old bridge and the approaches widened and improved.

Last Monday morning the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund elected Dr. Gober, of Louisville, physician of the penitentiary, and Rev. J. B. Tharp, of this city, chaplain. The election of deputy warden and clerk was postponed until the return of Warden Stone from Owensboro, where he has gone to close up his business preparatory to taking up his residence in this city.

Mr. Thos. Rodman, jr., has let the contract for the erection of his residence on the corner of Second and Shelby streets, South Frankfort, to Mr. W. L. Graham, who broke ground for the foundation yesterday. We have seen the plans and can say that it will be a beauty, and it is unnecessary to state that it will be well constructed, as Will, Graham will boss the job.

Mr. John O'Connell, jr., an employe of the Capital City Machine Works, undertook to burn a hole in an empty whisky barrel. Saturday afternoon, with a red-hot iron, and when the iron reached the inside a small quantity of whisky which still remained in the barrel ignited and blew the head out with a loud report, causing considerable consternation in the vicinity.

Mr. Jas. M. Wakefield, one of the cleverest men in the world, has recently added to his saw-mill establishment a planing-mill, and is now prepared to furnish anything from an eight by ten window sash to a winding stairway. Mr. L. Choat, a gentleman of experience and skill, has charge of this branch of the business, and if you want anything in the shape of scroll work, turning doors, molding, or window sash and blinds, he is the man who will get it up in good style for you. Read his advertisement in another column and then give Mr. Wakefield a call.

Col. J. W. Hunt Reynolds' stable, composed of the following string of racers, left this city Monday afternoon under the charge of Eli Jordan. Col. Reynolds' splendid rainer, for the Louisville races: Blue Eyes, Fortuna, By and By, Clarissima, Balaclava, Ripple, Maresbie, Dardette, Treosote, and Florence Davis. Several of the above list are not the property of Col. Reynolds, but have been trained at Fleetwood and will be run in his name. Most of them are youngsters, but we confidently expect the Fleetwood stable to be heard from on more than one course this year. After the races at Louisville the stable will be taken to Chicago and from there to New York.

The little brick cottage on Third street, South Frankfort, lately owned by Mrs. Hoover, is being repaired and remodeled, and when finished will be occupied by Mr. Henry Duvall as a residence.

Mr. Peter C. Sower, at the stone front confectionery, Main street, has fitted up a neat ice cream saloon, and is prepared to furnish his customers with delicious ice cream and sherbet at all hours.

The City Park Commissioners will meet this afternoon to consider the preliminaries of the improvements to be put on the capital grounds. Mr. D. M. Woolson has kindly donated the plat for the work.

The strawberry crop in this locality is suffering from the dry weather. Many of the berries are drying up on the vines, and it is thought that if we do not have rain soon there will be few left to ripen.

A new guard house has been erected on the prison wall, at the corner of Clinton and High streets—an improvement that has been long needed. If it had have been there last week no attempt would have been made to scale the walls, and Farris' life would thus have been spared.

Mr. Thos. Rigby, one of the workmen employed in putting a patent coating upon the pipes at the Carlisle Distillery of the E. H. Taylor, jr., Company, fell from a platform Tuesday afternoon, striking his side against one of the pipes in his descent and landing in the pit of the fly wheel of one of the engines, about fifteen feet below. He was so badly hurt as to be confined to his room for several days, but the wonder is that he was not killed, as the fly wheel was in motion when he fell, and the space in the pit was scarcely large enough to admit his body.

A gentleman of the colored persuasion walked into the office of Mr. J. M. Wakefield's mill Monday afternoon and said to Mr. Wakefield:

"Boss, I've come a good ways and would like to git a job with you."

"Where are you from?" inquired Mr. Wakefield.

"I've all the way from Kentucky," was the reply.

"How did you get here?"

"I walked."

"Well," said Mr. Wakefield, "since you have walked so far I guess I'll have to find something for you to do; you can come around in the morning and go to work."

The "colored man" all the way from Kentucky" has been busily engaged loading lumber ever since.

FRANKFORT, KY., May 8, 1880

To the Good Templars of Franklin County:

We, the undersigned, a committee appointed by Capital Lodge, No. 269, I. O. G. T., have been authorized by that Lodge to invite the members of each of the different Lodges of Good Templars in this (Franklin) county, to meet in the city of Frankfort, on Thursday, May 20th, 1880, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of organizing a Franklin County Convention of Good Templars. Free entertainment will be provided for delegates and visitors. All persons who will attend are requested to notify the undersigned on or before May 15. Come one, come all.

Wheat is very promising.

The panther has been seen again.

Cherry trees are bending with fruit.

A wedding on the 20th—so says rumor.

Butter twenty-five cents per pound in this market.

Salty bacon will cure chicken cholera. We have tried it.

Most of our farmers have sheared their sheep, and they report a good yield.

Dr. Wm. Bailey, who has been visiting here, has returned to his home in Louisville.

Mr. Elijah Hedges will give five dollars to know who shot his favorite fox-hound, Jim.

Mr. Marion Seefield went fishing the other day, and returned almost loaded down with fish.

Miss Martha Crutcher and her niece, of Shelby county, were visiting relatives here last Sunday.

Messrs Blythe & Hancock are doing a lively business in their line in Hardinsville. Bob looks like an old merchant.

Mr. Willie Parrent, who has been attending the Baptist Convention in Lexington, returned home the first of the week.

We have visitors to our Good Templars' Lodge every Friday night from Frankfort. One initiation at the meeting last week.

Farmers are complaining about the dry weather, and would still complain if there should come another rain like the last one.

Prof. J. H. Shinn and scholars were fishing last Friday, at Devil's Backbone. A few minnows were caught. They all said they had enough backbone to last them for a long time.

Mr. Warner Seefield, who is attending school at Bagdad, paid his relatives and friends at this place a visit last Sunday. All the girls fell in love with him, and we regret that he had to leave us. BTO.

Taylorlton—Late Leestown.

Mr. Joe Emory is shipping a large lot of cattle this week.

Messrs. Frazer & Collins are fattening over two hundred head of hogs.

The employees of Kentucky River Mills in themselves will fill a medium size meeting house.

Col. Stape Johnson is now the manager of the O. F. C. Distillery, and is making a profitable yield.

The steam elevator, which has been under way for some time is being rapidly completed. The foundation to this structure is 40 feet below the surface.

Maj. Simon Montague, Capt. Ed. Roswell and Newt, Dean, the veteran fishermen, are plying their avocation with a vim. Everything around here has a fishy smell.

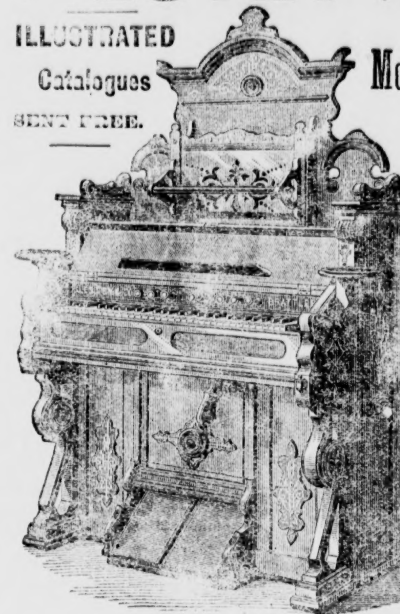

Why will Christians throughout christendom continue to overlook the plain duty that stares them in the face, near home, and either fix their eyes and their missionary energies on "Babylonish-Glad," thousands of miles away, or worse still, concentrate all their energies and money on the vain-glorious object of making things grand and splendid in their home churches instead of giving their surplus to help save souls perishing within sight of the spires of their beautiful temples? In a word, why don't some of your Frankfort churches, instead of centralizing all their power in that city or contributing their money to distant foreign missions, build a mission church here in this benighted little manufacturing burg, which is not a mile and a half from you? Charity—that charity spoken of in the Sermon on the Mount—should begin but not end at home. Here in "Taylorlton" the people are hungering and thirsting for the gospel without the means of obtaining it. Must they continue to go without it while you of the city have it all the time. In season and out of season, were that possible? O, Christians of the city of Frankfort! with all your bountiful supply of the preached word, with all your riches, too, I should think you would be ashamed to let this poor suburban locality go longer without either a mission church or a mission Sunday-school. It should have both, and you can furnish both without feeling the least or missing the other. Would that the spirit of W. M. Todd, that well remembered hero of mission churches and Sunday-schools (especially the latter), could return to earth and his influence be felt among the people once more—the people to whom he was truly a benefactor—for Sunday-schools are the best civilizers, the surest guides and incentives to virtuous lives known among men. Could the spirit of that Christian worker be felt for a single day it wouldn't be a week before this locality would have its mission church and Sunday-school assured. Come now, brethren, who will take the lead? G. E. F.
